OWP | OCEAN WASTE PLASTIC – a system to clean the ocean

Will your purchase in Europe rid the ocean in Indonesia of plastic? Yes, it will!

The Line »N« packaging carries the Ocean Waste Plastic seal – OWP. This means that for every packaging element we use, the exact same amount of plastic waste is fished out of the rivers and seas in Indonesia and is recycled in the country. The recovered plastic is first sorted, then cleaned and finally processed into granulate, which can be used to manufacture new products.

Puristic, effective, clean – guided by the DR.BELTER® GreenTec Concept® as the foundation of our formulations.

Hypersensitivity of the skin can occur at any age and temporarily affect all skin types. Yet, it is particularly common in dry and fair skin. In addition, temporary stressors can weaken the skin barrier and disrupt its natural balance.

Stress, environmental factors, an unbalanced diet, underlying conditions such as a predisposition to psoriasis or atopic dermatitis, as well as improper skincare, can all trigger overreactions in the body's largest sensory organ.

The products in line »sensi-bel« combine precious medicinal plant extracts with carefully selected promedical active ingredients to achieve the best possible dermatological therapy for ultra-sensitive skin conditions and skin affected by couperosis.

Line »A«

Many young people and adults suffer from very seborrheic skin with a tendency to the development of acne.

Line »A« offers special and very effective products to ensure gentle, effective treatment of this complex skin type. The formulas are designed to counteract excess sebum production, excessively oily skin, development of blemishes, strong growth of acne bacteria and the resulting fatty acids, leading to inflammation of the sebaceous glands.

[CLEANSING GEL] — This lime green cleansing gel, with its fresh lemon fragrance, is mild, calming, gentle, and disinfecting. A pleasant refreshment for combination skin and oily skin with a tendency toward acne.

[LOTION] — The cooling, calming lotion actively supports the cleansing of problem skin, resulting in a visibly clearer complexion. This skin type often shows alkaline pH levels (pH 8-9). This can be regulated by this lotion to a normal healthy skin level (pH 5.5) thus fortifying the skin's natural acid protection and buffer system.

[CREAM] — A wonderfully moisturizing care cream, suitable for day and night. It is slightly astringent, calms irritated and reddened skin, soothes papules and pustules, regulates sebaceous gland production, and has a mattifying effect on the skin.

[MAKE UP No.0, No.1, No.2] — A special creamy make-up that offers excellent coverage in three shades. This make-up supports the normalisation process for skin with a tendency to blemishes, excess sebum and acne, while disinfecting and regulating the skin functions.

[MASK] — The Line »A« mineral-based mask actively supports the normalisation of skin with comedones, papules, pustules and reddened areas. In its specific formula, sulphur, zink oxide, bisabolol, allantoin, and chlorhexidine develop their beneficial effects. The production of excess sebum, increased acne bacteria accumulation, and inflammation is significantly reduced. This product can also be applied to individual acne pustules.

[CLARITY CONCENTRATE] — A powerful bi-phase fluid to help soothe pustules and blemishes. The CDT-Complex is a cyclic molecule which releases fresh tea tree oil on the skin and simultaneously absorbs excess sebum. Inflammatory processes are consequently dried up, disinfected and soothed immediately. An accelerated purification of the treated skin zone is the result.

Ultra sensitive skin care

[Ultra-Sensitive] skin care for hypersensitive skin

Hypersensitive skin results from an imbalance in skin functions. Due to a weakened defense system, it easily shows symptoms like irritation, redness (erythema), tension or itchiness. Hypersensitive skin can have many different causes: Stress, environmental factors, diseases, such as a tendency of atopic dermatitis and unsuitable skin care can all trigger overreactions in our skin.

Hypersensitivity is by no means limited to a specific skin type. In general, however, fair-skinned people with thin, dry skin and blond or reddish hair are especially affected. Furthermore, temporary circumstances, such as an oncological treatment, a post-surgery phase or certain intense cosmetic treatments can make the skin more vulnerable and sensitive.

„Capricious“ skin definitely affects our sense of well-being. That is why this skin type demands special consideration for skin care. The following DR.BELTER® COSMETIC products are specifically designed to soothe and improve the condition of sensitive skin.

The products are especially effective as:

- the patented biomimetic formula basis restores the lipid barrier
- they are free of perfume and colorants
- selected plant extracts calm and strengthen the skin
- they are free of preservatives according to the EU cosmetics directive

Whether in everyday life, by the sea, in the mountains, after dermatological treatments, in heat, or cold – DR.BELTER® »sun« products protect the skin with dermatologically innovative formulations, consciously made from ingredients that do not harm the underwater world.

They provide reliable and sustainable protection against UV damage, dehydration, and photo aging. Additionally, they are highly skin-friendly and do not hinder the skin's natural functions.

Recycled packaging and sponsorship of the non-profit organization Healty Seas® which engages in freeing the Red Sea from fishing nets and plastic waste complete the sustainability concept. Positive impact is our goal!
